News Release

Pathfinder Irrigation District Announces Shutdown Schedule for Irrigation Deliveries.

Mitchell, Nebraska, August 13, 2018: The Pathfinder Irrigation District will begin shutting down the Interstate Canal system on September 8, 2018, flows into the canal will terminate on September 9, 2018. Deliveries from the Main Canal will terminate as canal levels drop between September 9th and September 10th. The flows in the High Line, Low Line and Supply Canals will be shut down on the afternoon of September 9th, deliveries from these canals will terminate as the water levels in the canals drop. Water users should schedule their final irrigation accordingly and contact their ditchrider as the shutdown proceeds to know when deliveries to their farm will terminate.

The District would like to thank its water users for their efforts to conserve water this year. With the timely rains and good management by the District and the irrigators, the water supply carry-over for next year looks good. Carryover should be slightly lower than average for the end of irrigation season, but hopefully the snow-pack will be better this year to make for a full irrigation supply for 2019.
